The world is at a tipping point. The old is dying and the new has not quite been born. Evolutionary tension between crisis and merging opportunity grips humanity as it seeks new answers to complex problems of sustainability. While this shift is full of possibility, the overload of information and overwhelm of fear can stop us. We need practical skills for the way forward.

Learn the art of conscious change with a culturally diverse panel of Northwest and Global Transformation Leaders who join with former IONS President James O'Dea to speak on how You Were Born for Such a Time as This!

Join James O'Dea and panelists:
